

The Tradition of the Red Envelope

The tradition of red envelopes was started by our ancestors. Feng Shui was developed over many thousands of years ago and many of its sacred teachings are only passed down orally. The time-honored tradition of exchanging red envelopes for spiritual wisdom shows respect and honors those before us. It is said that the Feng Shui discipline is sacred and therefore "sharing its heavenly secrets results in a heavenly punishment." The practice of exchanging a red envelope with some denomination of money, even a penny, provides protection and safety, boosts the experience, and pays the good Ch'i forward when the monies are donated. If you experience joy in what you learn please send me a red envelope to show reverence for these sacred teachings. My team and I love spreading the Ch'i!
